

August 20, 2014

Dear Friends and Supporters:

On August 15, 2014, at the Wyoming State Fair, I was honored to receive the much earned title of Miss Rodeo Wyoming 2015! This upcoming year will be filled with lots of travel and unforgettable memories. Throughout my travels I will encounter rodeo committees, stock contractors, rodeo fans, communities and sponsors. I will begin my year at the National Western Stock Show in Denver, Colorado and end my year at the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas, Nevada, competing for the coveted title of Miss Rodeo America. I will work hard to represent the great state of Wyoming and all of my sponsors who are supporting me.

I am an undergraduate at the University of Wyoming in the Animal Science Department, focusing on the areas of business, production and nutrition. While attending the University, I represented Laramie as Miss Laramie Jubilee Days, 2013 and Albany County Farm Bureau as Miss Albany County Farm Bureau, 2014. Throughout my experiences I have met incredible people and formed memories that will be with me forever.

My coronation dinner and dance will be held on November 15, 2014 at the Albany County Fairgrounds. This eventful night will be the primary fundraiser for my upcoming year, and your generous donations will help provide me with the resources to travel and represent Wyoming in a manner deserving of this great state. I would be honored if you would join me. The evening will begin with cocktails and social hour at five thirty, followed by a beef dinner with a live and silent auction where you will find everything from housewares to guns. After dinner, entertainment will feature dancing to the sounds of Chancey Williams and the Younger Brothers Band.

My sponsors are the key to success for an eventful year as Miss Rodeo Wyoming. On the reverse side I have described the different levels of sponsorship and their benefits. Any donation or financial assistance would be greatly appreciated. I thank you for your consideration; please contact me if you have questions or comments.

Respectfully Yours,

Laurel A. Austin
